

CRASHcourse

What to do after the crash.

By law, any accident that causes injury or damage, in any way, requires you to stop your vehicle

If possible and no one has been injured, move the vehicles out of the way of oncoming traffic

Use your phone to record the other driver's details. Take a picture of the license disc and the accident scene

Report the accident and obtain an incident number from the police, even if no one has been injured

Only allow your vehicle to be towed by an authorised service provider, authorisation can be obtained from your insurance company

If medical assistance is needed, do not move or try to assist anyone who is injured unless you are qualified to do so
